

Tim and Harold – Life Education Trust

On Tuesday we had the pleasure of having Tim and Harold the Giraffe from Life Education Trust visit our school and teach us about teamwork, as well as being a great friend. Each class had two or three sessions in between class time. Wharite and Maharahara each enjoyed their time with Harold and Tim and have come away knowing more about being a team member and working together. Harold even had a surprise for the little kids and came out to play with them on the playground. Thank you Harold and Tim for making our day very enjoyable. Written by Belle & Gemma

- An ellipses
- A colon
- Dialogue
- Expressive language
- Subject-specific language
- An adverbial clause (well.. just this one)

Here is Tom Scott's completed challenge...

I woke, amped with anticipation. Today I will attempt a half-pipe: backflip on skis. I had tried this before, but failed. The ride to the slopes was more exciting than ever. When I got to the cafe, because the lifts had not opened yet, Mum asked me "Is there anything you want?" I said, "No." As soon as the lifts opened I ran out and jumped on. After about 15 min on the chair lift I was standing at the edge of the half pipe, heart pounding. Mum said "Are you sure you want to do this?" ...I did it!
